Course Overview

With the BSTR Manual Handling Module, you will review and build on previously gained knowledge and skills through open questions and practical training. Delegates shall be able to act safely and take the correct preventative actions in all aspects of manual handling, in a wind turbine environment.

GWO Basic Safety Training Offshore Refresher Package £740

Book a package of all five of the GWO basic safety training refresher courses at a reduced cost of £740 and save £198.

- GWO First Aid Refresher
- GWO Fire Awareness
- GWO Manual Handling
- GWO Survival Refresher
- GWO Working at Height (Refresher – 1 day)

All five courses can be refreshed in four days. Call 01253 504800 to book.

Entry Requirements

Delegates must hold a valid and in-date GWO Manual Handling Certificate.

Important GWO Refresher Course Validity

GWO certificates must be renewed by undertaking the relevant refresher training course prior to, and inclusive of, the expiry date stated on the specific training certificate. Where the expiry date has been exceeded, the delegate must complete the relevant initial training course in order to be re-certified.

Important amendment with effect from 1 March 2016

GWO certificates can be renewed up to two months prior to the original certificate's expiry date in order to maintain the original certification. If a certificate is renewed beyond 2 months prior to the expiry date stated on the training certificate, the re-issued certificate will carry an expiry date of 24 months from the date of course completion.

Course note:

This course is for regular climbers in the wind turbine industry wanting to refresh their existing in-date GWO certificate.

Delegates are required to register as a delegate on the GWO WINDA database prior to arrival. Registration is free. Visit the Global Wind Safety website and complete the relevant fields. You will need to bring your WINDA ID to all booked training courses.

Career Options and Progression

Modules and Assessment

Teaching and Learning Methods

This BSTR Manual Handling Module is estimated to last three hours, including meals and breaks. It consists of 40% theory and 60% practical learning. Training focuses on the access and egress conditions encountered in wind turbine environments, with practical skills trained and demonstrated within a restricted area of movement. Where possible, all elements of the course will be covered by demonstration and practical exercises.
