Course Overview

The Navigation Aids, Equipment and Simulation Training at management level (NAEST (M)) offers comprehensive training in the competent use of navigation and electronic systems found onboard merchant vessels.

You will gain the knowledge and understanding required in the use of radar, ARPA, ECDIS, satellite navigation systems and other electronic navigation aids to monitor the safety of navigation.

Successful completion will form part of the overall competency package that is submitted to the MCA for the issuance of a Chief Mates Certificate of Competency (Chief Mates CoC – unlimited). The course is based on MNTB criteria and approved by the Maritime and Coastguard Agency (MCA).

Entry Requirements

This course is aimed at officers following a course of study leading to their second or higher certificate of competency and is mandatory for candidates for Chief Mate or Master on ships of 500 gross tonnage or more.

Delegates require 12 months watchkeeping service while holding at least an OOW Certificate of Competency, and either:

NaRAST (O ) /NaEST (O) since 1st January 2005 or an approved ECDIS certificate (MCA or IMO 1.27)

If no ECDIS certificate is held then you will need to complete a full ECDIS course before you undertake NaEST (M). If you are unsure please contact T 01253 504800 or E
