Course Overview

Prepare for your Maritime and Coastguard Agency (MCA) external examinations administered by the Scottish Qualifications Authority (SQA).

The course is designed to support both Navigation and Stability and Operations examinations. In the case of resit(s), it may be just one of these subjects.

You will have already gained the academic knowledge required following the requisite period of sea service holding your first Certificate of Competency (CoC).

The course is part of a suite of qualifications that form part of the criteria required to apply for the Chief Mate Certificate of Competency and are designed to develop the higher management skills necessary to perform on board a vessel in a senior role.

This course is also available over a 9 to 10 week period for those seafarers seeking a longer period of preparation.

Expert Tutors

All staff involved in the delivery of maritime and nautical courses within the College are approved to teach the subjects and modules they deliver. The approval process ensures that staff delivering a given programme are appropriately qualified and, where appropriate, possess relevant vocational and industrial experience and professional practice. .
